

LIFE & LEGACY

Case Statement for B'nai Israel

Together at Congregation B'nai Israel, we strive to build lives of beauty and meaning for each member. As a community we contemplate and rejoice; work and play; welcome and mourn. At Congregation B'nai Israel we are congregants committed to each other, to the remarkable history of our Synagogue and to the power of living Jewishly in a world that demands much of us.

As a community we are Jews and partners of Jews, many of whom have come from elsewhere. We are a mosaic of people, each congregant unique in their personal history, demographics and interests. We welcome your particular passion and encourage it as an expression of your Judaism, whether it be educating people, supporting Israel, working for social justice, or joining friends at the Synagogue. At Congregation B'nai Israel we value giving congregants many ways to make friends across generations, grow as Jews, and to contribute and participate in prayer, in learning and in acts of loving kindness.

Our legacy donors are individuals just like you who want to ensure that Congregation B'nai Israel will survive and thrive long after we are gone. They want B'nai Israel to continue to be a place where relationships are created and nurtured, support is given and received and all members can undertake their own sacred journey.